DISGUSTING

Attempt of Federal Office Holders to Override the Wishes of the Voters of Knox County

Alleged Voters Imported to Attempt to Carry Convention for Taft.

DEFEATED IN THEIR EFFORT

Last Saturday afternoon when the Knox county Mass Convention was called to order by W. B. Dizney, the Secretary of the County Committee, (in the absence of the County Chairman,) the courthouse was packed to the doors and many of the voters were unable to gain admittance.

M. G. Hignite, a Deputy Collector, had about 50 miners from Four Mile, Bell county, packed in the courthouse, and they were well "tanked up" with mean whisky and instructed to howl and disturb the meeting.

When the convention was called order the names of W. H. Green and R. M. Stansberry were presented for the Chairmanship, when the vote was taken it was evident that Green had at least twice as many voters as Stansberry, but the crowd of miners continued to howl and voted for Stansberry over and over again.

The Chair declared Mr. Green elected as Chairman of the convention.

Then it was that pandemonium broke loose, Hignite jumped to his feet and appealed from the decision of the Chair, but the Chair refused to put his question and he put it himself. No one could tell, by this time what was being done, Mr. Green had taken the Chair and called for the nomination of a Secretary. John W. Hughes was nominated and elected. A committee was then appointed to prepare and present resolutions to the convention.

In the mean time, M. G. Hignite had taken full control of the bawling wing of the convention, composed mainly of the Bell County miners which he had imported for the purpose. He had declared his appeal carried and his candidate elected. He also declared J. F. Catron elected Secretary. Then without waiting to have a committee appointed mounted a chair and said: "I will now read my resolutions" and pulling a paper from his pocket began to read something which no one could hear amid the noise and confusion.

In the mean time Stansberry had made two or three unsuccessful attempts to get upon the stand but had been pushed aside by those who stood around Green, the regularly elected Chairman.

Catron, also tried to take his place but was pushed aside and Green and Hughes held their places.

By this time the regular Committee was ready to report and Chairman Green recognized T. D. Tinsley, Chairman, who read the report of the committee, after which it was duly moved and carried to adopt the report as read.

When they would not have enough to make any showing whatever. The "rump" adjourned and withdrew during the reading of the report of the committee appointed by the Chairman, and after the adoption of the report as read the Committee the convention adjourned.

The report which was adopted instructs for Fairbanks, and indorses Chairman Byrle for re-election as District Chairman, endorses Col. John G. Matthews, for Congress, instructs for W. T. Davis and W. A. Coffey as District delegates to the Chicago Convention.

We have witnessed many a convention but this was beyond question the worst we have ever been connected with and it shows to what extremes the Taft-Edwards crowd will go in order to carry out their own desires. If the conduct of the Taft crowd throughout the State was as it was here it was simply awful.

Kentucky is for Fairbanks and with a fair showing will give him two to one over Taft any day in the week, but the Taft followers had set out to steal it and it seems that they have succeeded pretty well in most places although they failed in their efforts here.

HIGH SCHOOL

Entertainment Largely Attended and Greatly Enjoyed.

The entertainment given by the Barbourville High School last Friday night at the chapel of the Institute was largely attended, considering the stormy night, and all who ventured out were amply repaid by the splendid program that was given by the pupils of the High School.

The pupils all did well and showed the training that our splendid corps of teachers has given them during the present term. Within about three weeks the regular commencement exercises will be given and we predict that it too, will be well worth attending.

The Baccalaureate sermon of the High School will be preached Sunday, May 9, by Dr. J. D. Hittcheek, at the First Methodist Church, and the class address will be delivered on Thursday evening, May 14, by Judge H. C. Faulkner.

The public will be most cordially invited to attend.

THE CHAMPION LIAR

London Echo Has Followed the Custom so Long That It Can Not Tell the Truth.

Heaps Abuse Upon Byrle and Clark for Refusing to Bow Down to Will of Edwards.

We have heard that there is an organization in our land that issues a license to certain individuals, permitting them to lie, but we never knew until recently where the organization was located, and was not sure that there was a permanent headquarters, but last week we discovered the fact that the headquarters of the great Chief of liars is located in the Echo Office in the village of London, Ky., where one J. W. Stephenson, is purported to be the editor and chief, but who is editor only in name, and the paper is owned, controlled and manipulated by D. C. Edwards and a gang of his henchmen, who have not enough brains to write a decent article for publication, but depend upon vilification and abuse of those who may oppose their desires and fill the columns from week to week with the worst sort of "rot."

To read their dirty sheet one would imagine that D. W. Clark, had like D. C. Edwards, been a perpetual office seeker. They state that we were seeking a place on the State ticket in 1903, which was the first that we had heard of such a thing. It seems strange that they would suppress such news from us for five long years. Why didn't you tell us sooner?

Then they say we wanted the postoffice at Barbourville. Is there any record that we ever filed any application for it?

We may not be very bright but we had too much common sense to apply to Edwards for a place, knowing that he would delight in refusing us.

Then they say we were defeated in 1907. That is true, but we were not the only good man defeated, and while perhaps the man selected was a better man we made no complaint of the defeat, but we disliked to see our Congressman lecture in a sneering manner against us and causing other counties to vote against us when his own county was instructed for us and he had personally stated that he "would favor a mountain every time."

No, we didn't think we had received the appointment as State Inspector. We received it, and have the credentials to show for it, and if Bro. Stephenson will come over we will "show him."

What's all this got to do with the matter at issue? We are not a candidate at the present writing for Congress, but we have a man from the good county of Knox who is, and who will put Mr. Edwards to sleep on June 6, where he will never awaken to the situation and never know what it was that struck him.

The Echo credits us with being instrumental in bringing Col. Matthews into the race, and we infer that if he is elected (which he will be) that the Advocate will be entitled to the credit of it. Very well, we are willing to shoulder the responsibility and feel quite confident that before Col. Matthews has been in Congress as long as has Mr. Edwards, the people of the old Eleventh District will rise up and call us "blessed" for bringing about such a great relief to the entire district.

We have no desire to go further back than the time when Mr. Edwards took his seat in Congress, to discuss his history, although we have been very reliably informed that there is a page in his history in connection with the creamery business before he had ever thought of trying to hold down a seat in the halls of Congress, that would sour the cream if made public. However, that was in another State, and they are now content with being rid of him and we do not care to "drag the skeleton from the closet," so we will let it go at that.

As to any promise of office we can truthfully state that we have never mentioned the matter to Col. Matthews, but we feel confident that if he was now in Congress he could find some one worthy to present to the President for the Surveyorship of the port at Louisville, although it is reported that Mr. Edwards has said he finds no one who is worthy.

Don't he have an exalted opinion of the district he represents, and the people he is asking to re-elect him?

What a pity that we have not one man at least who is worthy. What is the matter with Bro. Stephenson, could he not use the salary of that lucrative position? His presence is not needed in London. Any jackleg could do as well as he in the newspaper office, and while he seems to envy us of any position, we have a feeling of sympathy for him and would rejoice to see him secure a place at the hands of his Lord and Master, if he only had the brains to fill the position. Since we come to think of it, that is the reason he has not offered for some position.

Just keep up the fight on us Bro. We are able to bear it and whatever may be said through the columns of such a dirty sheet as the Echo has come to be, will have no weight whatever with the class of people that we associate with, therefore it can not injure us in the least. "Lay on, McDuff, and cursed be he, who first cries, Hold! enough."

THE WHY

And the Wherefore we Take Our Position.

Since the few persons who are for D. C. Edwards think it is an act of treason to oppose him, we will give our reasons for such oppositions.

First, As American citizens we have a right to be for whom we please.

Second, D. C. Edwards has done nothing to instill into the hearts of the Republicans his loyalty to their interests.

Third, His appointments have been made, invariably in a way that would promote his own interests, regardless of the principle or material.

Fourth, He has had Republicans thrown out of office and had Democrats placed in their stead.

Fifth, He is claiming credit for the passage of bills with whose passage he was about as important as C. C. Calhoun was in having the old soldier's money allowed.

Sixth, He is building a machine in the Eleventh district whose character is a replica of the Music Hall Convention.

Seventh, For eight long years, a Kentucky boy, from the mountains, has languished behind unmerited prison bars. Trial after trial has proven only too plain that a fair trial could not be secured. Realizing this fact, citizens from all over the United States have petitioned our worthy Governor to pardon this unfortunate man. But on these petitions many as they are, one name is lacking. One man, whom the Republicans of this district have elevated to a position of trust and honor failed to carry out this sacred obligation, D. C. Edwards, who migrated from the far North, saw Caleb Powers standing between him and what the world would call influence. Unmindful of the debt of gratitude he owed simple minded Mountaineers, he stepped from the paths of duty. He again asks for our support, against a true, warm-hearted Kentuckian. Can you, who loves the air of freedom, can you who love to roam over the hills with the freedom of the wind, you who love the Mountain people, can you turn down a Kentuckian for D. Edwards? Can you think of those wasted cheeks dimmed by the fumes of foul prison; those eyes that once sparkled in the sunshine of freedom; that old mother, whose heart once leaped with joy when she saw her hand some son approach but now bows her head in sorrow. She sees his face no more. Hears his footsteps no more. Nature brings to her the verdant freshness of Spring to remind her that there is a merciful God, but man brings not to her that son, to remind her that there is mercy or justice in the human heart. I trust that the good God, who has stood by Caleb Powers through all this prosecution, who has lent him strength that he might fight for the liberty he so richly deserves, will help us fight this battle.—Manchester Citizen.

I am in favor of the elimination from politics of Ring Rule.

I am in favor of Caleb Powers being released from prison.

I am in favor of any honest measure that leads to the betterment of the mountains, because I am a mountain man.

I submit my claim to the Republican party and assure my fellow countrymen that any confidence they may repose in me will be repaid with all the loyalty and fidelity of a true Kentuckian.

Respectfully,
JOHN G. MATTHEWS.

THE WATER WORKS

Seems to Have But Little Attraction to Our Citizens.

Last Monday night there were about twenty people out to attend the citizens meeting on the water works question.

Is it possible that our people don't want water works, or do they think we will have them any way? Now we wish to state that it will take a united effort upon the part of all our citizens to get a plant. To say that we need this plant is but re-stating a proposition that is admitted by everyone.

Now let's not let this opportunity pass, but secure it while we can.

CORBIN NEWS.

While the effect of the panic is rather keenly felt in our little city, we continue to grow, and occasionally we can hear a locomotive whistle and the pay-car still pays us the usual monthly visits.

It seems that about the only thing that these "hard-times" does not affect, is the race for Congress between D. C. Edwards and Col. John G. Matthews, and if, in this neck of the woods, is in no wise behind.

We read Edwards' newspaper, The Mountain Echo, and it says that Edwards is going to Congress, teeth, toenails and all, and we noticed last week that it paid its respects to Messrs. Matthews, Clark and Byrle, under the heading: "The Truth Laid Bare." Wasn't that a vote-maker for Edwards though?

The Echo, Benevolent thing that it is, says that it allows to every man the privilege to be for whom he will, and yet, it attacks the characters of the above named gentlemen for no other reason than that they will not now in submission to the tyrannical Edwards—yes! the Echo is a very consistent little newspaper!

We don't know, Edwards may be Congressional timber alright, but if he is, there is plenty of it in the Eleventh Congressional District, and let's not bring any more from Kansas.

We have one newspaper in our city, The Corbin Times, when Mr. Matthews first came out as a candidate for Congress the Times gave him rather a "send-off," but it appears that, later the editor paid London, the home of Edwards and his Echo, a visit and when he came back the Echo "wrote him up," called him a "fine looking fellow." We don't know whether or not that is all the good thing the Echo could say about him, but guess you will think so when I tell you that he is now for Edwards.

For several years we have known Mr. Matthews, and some of Mr. Edwards' staunchest friends in Corbin say that Matthews is a good man and would make a good congressman. That being the case, why should not the people of the mountains of Kentucky have Mr. Matthews, a mountain man, represent them in Congress?

May the day soon come when "political pie" will become stale and no longer serve as a means to keep alien-at-heart in office who have not the good of their constituency in mind before all else.

Paper pillows are all the go, now, and are easily made. Tear the paper into pieces not bigger than your finger nail and put them into a pillow sack of drilling or light ticking. They are very cool for hot climates and much superior to feather pillows. The newspapermen are printing appeals for them for hospitals. Newspaper is not nice to use as there is a disagreeable odor from printer's ink, but white and brown paper and old envelopes are best. As they are torn stuff them into an old pillow case until a sufficient quantity is had. The easiest way is to cut the paper in strips about an inch wide, then tear or cut across. The result is the lighter it makes the pillow.

The Meeting.

The protracted meeting which had been in progress at the First Methodist Church for the past four weeks closed last Thursday night, but the effects continued on through the Sunday service. On Sunday morning after listening to a powerful sermon by Dr. Hitchcock, the doors of church were opened and nine persons, all of them grown, were received into the church. They were Col. W. R. Hughes and wife, A. W. Hopper, J. R. Jones and wife, Jo' n A. Black, Judge James D. Black, Judge J. S. Miller and Miss Maggie Sampson. At the night service which was quarterly meeting, Dr. J. R. Howes preached a splendid sermon and the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was offered, and one hundred and fifteen persons came to the table.

Never before in the history of our town has there been such a meeting as the one just closed, and there are still others who are expected to unite with this church and churches who have been awakened during this great revival.

DECORATION DAY

Should Be Observed by Old Soldiers Here

With Suitable Services and Ceremonies
For the Occasion.

The members of the G. A. R. Post should arrange for a parade and decoration at our cemetery on Saturday May 30th. There are quite a number of the soldiers of the Rebellion who sleep in yonder cemetery and it would be but fitting to have all the old soldiers of the county meet here on May 30th and together with the Grand Army Post, and the citizens of the town and community visit the cemetery and decorate the graves of the fallen comrades.

Let's have a committee take the matter in hand and prepare for it and select speakers for the occasion, and flowers to decorate the graves, and make it a day to be remembered.

John G. E. Post, No. 221, G. A. R. met Monday and decided to hold memorial services on Sunday, May 24th, to be held in the First Methodist church, and on Saturday, May 30th, the Post will decorate the graves of all the old soldiers who sleep in the cemetery. All old soldiers, citizens and all the fraternal orders are invited to attend these ceremonies, and contribute something in the way of flowers or evergreens to keep green the memory of our fallen heroes.

THE HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

Pleasant Evening Reviews.—A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.—Crude Thoughts from the Editorial Pen.

AS YOU GO THROUGH LIFE.

"Don't look for the flaws as you go through life; And even when you find them, It is wise and kind to be somewhat blind And look for the virtue behind them. For the cloudiest night has a hint of light Somewhere in its shadows hiding; It is better by far to hunt for a star Than the spots on the sun abiding."

Do not keep your politeness to put on with your good clothes, because of you do you will surely forget it sometime when you most wish it, and even if you remember in which pocket you have it you will be stiff, and plainly show that it is not natural. Cultivate politeness, not only for what outsiders will say, but because it is the right thing to do, one of your many talents to make good use of, and anything that improves always increases self-respect as well as the good opinion of the world.

"The boy is father of the man" in more ways than one. The boy who is willing to do faithful labor, either at or away from home, for little more than his board and clothes, is fitting himself for a position of usefulness and better pay in the future. It is the boy who attends strictly to business and makes his employer's interests his own, who will make his mark as a business. An industrious energetic, painstaking boy or young man never waits for a place, and these with stability of character, are all the recommendations needed. These are so plain that every business man reads them and mentally concludes: "That boy will succeed because he deserves success."

Who does not dread the visitor who starts, then thinks of something else to say, rises, and then thinks of another subject of conversation; nearly reaches the door, and most probably holding it open, is aroused to a degree of mental brilliancy that threatens his health and that of his host or his hostess by long detainment of both in a cold draft while he discourses? What a tax on the politeness and politeness of the listener, who vainly strives, by assenting instantly to every proposition to end the interview and break the restraining bond of polite attention.

SHORT ROAD TO MISERY.

Begin by fancying that no one cares for you; that you are not of any use to anyone—a sort of non-entity in the household, where your place would not be missed, but easily supplied. Reflect on your beauty, lend yourself to believe that no one can love a plain face, or think you agreeable because there are others more charming. Fancy that every one who looks upon you makes a mental comparison which militates against you in favor of someone else. Imagine that every word said in jest is only meant to cover a deeper and more painful meaning—that every article of wearing apparel you don is criticized and ridiculed. Do all this and your tendency to morbidity of feeling will so increase that in a very short time you will become one of the most miserable of human beings!

ANSWERING CHILDREN'S QUESTIONS.

Anyone who has the ability to ask a question that to him is worth asking, has the capacity to receive an answer that to him is worth receiving. A thoughtful child, on inquiring the location of Heaven, was told by his mother that he could not understand her, even if she explained it. She was probably right in so far as the child's ability to understand her was concerned; but she was wrong in not telling him that the fault was with herself and not with him.

Had she known as much about answering him as he knew about questioning her, there need have been no trouble about his understanding her explanation. There is no question that a child can seriously and fairly ask that he can not be as seriously and fairly answered. To tell a child or to lead it to infer that is "too little" to know anything more on any subject about which it already knows enough to frame a question, is to deny its capacity for further growth. It is to thrust the child's mind into a dungeon, instead of opening it to the light. It is to bind it in fetters, instead of giving it freedom of action. Ability to ask, presupposes capacity to receive. And no questions are better worth answers than a child's.

THE ROAD TO SUCCESS.

The world is wide. If you wish to be somebody, "pitch in." The brave always have friends. Where others have gone you can. If the old track don't suit you, make a new one; somebody will walk in it. Don't hurry too fast, especially till you know the road or become acquainted with your team. Mind your own business and look after it yourself. Don't stop to club whiffs or retail gossip. You may grow weary, but remember this is not a world of ease, and rest lies beyond. Success is never obtained in a country like this without effort. If you fail once, try again. If you are down, get up. If it is dark, strike a light. If you are in the shade, move around; if there is a shade on one side there is sure to be sunshine on the other. It takes longer to skin an elephant than a mouse, but then the skin is worth something. Never be content with doing what another has done—excel him. A trade is a good thing to have; it is better than gold—brings a large premium. But to make a premium, the trade must be perfect—no silver plated affair. Determine in your mind to be a good workman, or let the job out. Learning a trade is different from eating mush and milk—mechanical education does not slip down without chewing. Never slight your work, never. Every job you do is a sign. Poor signs are against success. People always speak well of a boy who minds his own business and who seems to be disposed to be some body in time. This is a queer world; many people are watching us, and help often comes when and from whom we least expect. Confidence is the safe in which men often deposit their treasures, and as you prove worthy so will your reward of success be. There is a reward in success, which none but those who strive can enjoy. Deserve success and it will come.

A crust of bread, pitcher of water, a thatched roof and love; there is happiness for you, whether the day be rainy or sunny. It is the heart that makes the home, whether the eye rests on a potato patch or a flower garden. Heart makes home precious, and it is the only thing that can.

Mr. D. W. Brown, of Harboursville, preached at the M. E. Church at this place last Sunday to a large audience. We only regret that we have not more Mr. Brown's in our country.

THE MODERN CIRCUS

We Vow Each Year We Will Not Attend Again, But go Just the Same—It's a Fascination for Old and Young.

The great American circus has become so established in this country as to be almost a factor in the makeup of our nationality.

When the first breath of spring begins to open the buds on the trees and blue bird calls to its mate, the bill poster comes forth from his winter haunts, the flaming posters tell that the circus is coming again, and then, if we are trying to master the multiplication table, with glaring bills all covered with daring gymnasts and bespangled beauties on prancing horses, calling to us thru the school house window from across the street, or perchance, we are trying to guess the future on mess pork, its all the same. It awakens an interest that can only be satisfied when we have paid the admission fee and are awaiting with expectation as each act is ushered into the sawdust arena. We have vowed time and again that we would never attend another circus, but each succeeding year finds us hunting for the soft spot on the blue boards and the big canvas with as great a relish as when we remained up all night to see it come in, and carried barrels of water for that magic "pass one boy."

When a man acknowledges that he has lost his interest in a circus, he is not far away from the day when he will be sitting in front of his bedside counting his fingers.

The John Robinson Big Circus, recognized for more than four score years as America's greatest of tented exhibition, is billed for two performances at Harboursville May 13, and the small boy, his mother and, incidentally his "paw" will be there.

In any city where the majority of its citizens are home owners, one will find pretty homes and happy satisfied people. They are always on the alert for the best interest of the town and its moral welfare. Where this is not so such an interest is not displayed.

YOU MAY HEAR OR SEE STATEMENTS MADE BY MY Competitors that they are selling goods at low prices, but I say to the trade, that you have heard the wind blow lots of times.

Now I want to say to you for all time to come, that you can always find goods at the Mammoth Store at as low prices as any of my competitors can afford to sell them, and if I sell them to you lower I hope you won't grumble at it. My motto is Quick Sales and Short Profits.

I have been connected with the goods business for 38 years, and I have heard it thunder often during the time. Have just received a fresh car-load of flour, also a car-load of hay which I expect to offer to the trade at prices I am confident will meet all competition. I am not in the business to be side-tracked.

I am noted for being ready to talk and name low prices when they come to see me on all kinds of goods I handle.
